Project Overview

RIGHTS ON STAGE is a national initiative in Italy that addresses the lack of awareness among young people (aged 16 - 25) regarding the EU Charter of Fundamental Rights. Combining non-formal education, peer education, and edutainment, the project features a series of morning school workshops and evening theatrical/musical performances. Through these activities, real-life challenges, such as non-discrimination, digital privacy, and climate justice, are transformed into creative narratives to raise awareness of the Charter among youth. The project will culminate in the "Caravan of Rights," a traveling show visiting 15 locations throughout Italy (9 in Sicily and 6 in other Italian regions).

Objectives

- Increase knowledge & awareness: Translate the principles of the EU Charter into engaging, relatable languages for youth.
- Skill development: Build civic, expressive, and digital skills by training young participants as active peer educators.
- Community engagement: Involve local administrations, schools, teachers, and families to embed Charter values into local social and educational policies.

- Outputs
    - ✓ 15-stop itinerant "Caravan of Rights" tour across schools and cultural hubs in Italy.
    - ✓ Co-created original theatrical and musical performance script (in Italian and English).
    - ✓ Capacity-building laboratories for youth and educators, alongside trained youth peer educators.
    - ✓ Multilingual digital educational kit (script, video recordings, podcasts, and learning sheets) hosted on an interactive portal.
    - ✓ International dissemination conference in Italy with representatives from 8–10 EU countries.

- Outcomes
    - ✓ Measurable increase in Charter awareness and understanding among youth and local communities.
    - ✓ Empowered youth capable of recognizing, defending, and multiplying fundamental rights in daily life.
    - ✓ Enhanced capacity for educators and local stakeholders to promote fundamental rights.
    - ✓ Availability of a tested, open-access educational format for organizations across Europe.
